

3 eBay Tricks That Will Make You Money Now!

We've all heard of eBay. It's a great place to get great deals and maybe even make some money. The mammoth site is home to millions of buyers who want to buy your stuff. And even though you may think the competition is just too much, I'll fill you in on 3 eBay tricks that will definitely make you some money.

1. eBay Arbitrage

With all the people on eBay, there's bound to be someone who doesn't know what they're doing. Actually, there are a lot of them and a lot of them are trying to sell things on eBay and have no clue how to go about it.

This is where you step in. It's easier than you think. Find a product that is listed poorly that has low or no bids and grab for a bargain price. Then turn around, list it professionally (which I know you know how to do) and make a profit. Actually, you could use this as a source for products for a while.

2. Misspellings in eBay Listings

To go along with the above eBay trick, there are also a lot of sellers that can't spell. Fat fingers, some call it. This makes it mostly impossible to find their items. Think about it, the majority of people searching for items on eBay use the search engine. Unless they magically misspell the word the same way the seller did, no bids for that auction.

On the other hand, you could search for popular products with various misspelled versions of the keywords. Also, there is software that will help you find all sorts of misspelled auction listings.

3. Sell a Backend Information Product

This is one of the best ideas I've ever learned for using eBay. This works better if you have an eBay business set up or if you're already selling on eBay. What you do is, set up your About Me page almost like it was your own separate web page. Then, either create your own information product (related to your actual product) or become an affiliate for an information product. This will add income and may even surpass your current income from eBay and it's essentially automated, once set up.

Well, hopefully you can take one of these eBay tricks and put them to use. eBay is such an enormous opportunity to make money and you can find more and more diverse ways to do so.
