

I've Got A Great FREE Report For You Today

On Monday and Tuesday when you get the 100 or more emails promising you some Free report what thoughts are going through you mind? Are you saying to yourself "Great, I was going to buy this report and now it is being given to me Free"? Or are you thinking to yourself "Whats the Catch". Only about 10 percent of these reports are actually any good but yet the ones that are good will bring you to a One Time Offer page after you enter your email into the squeeze page form.

The rest of these so called Free reports are nothing more than very long sales pages. They are filling up the pages of the report of why you need to now invest your money into the product they are trying to sell to you. None of these Free reports actually give you a way to produce any results unless you maybe go ahead with what they are trying to sell to you. Do you think any of these products the marketers are selling to you will actually make you any significant amount of money? Do you think any of these products will produce any success for yo?

These marketers never want to show you how to actually produce but instead all they want is to have you as a customer on their list. Most of these marketers will tell you that the market of people seeking ways to make money is over saturated. This is a big lie. They just don't want you selling things in their market niche. The biggest niche today and this will be the way it almost always is is people looking for ways to make money.

Notice that after you buy a product the marketer does not check in with you later to find out how much money you are now making. No no no, instead the only time you ever hear from them is when they have something else they want you to buy. If they were truly looking to save you money then everything they sell you would be less than ten dollars but I have never found this to be the way. For years there was this one marketer who would hold a free call in on Saturdays and during these years he would give a lot of great low cost and free info but eventually he grew tired of this and started pitching out these produce with price tags of over a thousand dollars. So maybe you will find somebody who does give great assistance at little cost but this will not be the way it always will be. They will grow impatient and start pitching more expensive products to you.

The way they look at it is on a ten dollar product maybe they will earn 6 dollars from you but with a product that sells for a thousand dollars they will make around six hundred dollars. The number of sales they get will be the same but the value will be more to them because they will be earning much more per sale.

Just always remember that everything will cost you something. Nothing is completely free. The best way for you to not spend a lot of money is to get one of those prepaid Visa cards and only put the money on it that you are prepared to spend. This way there will be no hidden or re occurring charges.
