

Wearing Christian Hoodies

Christian Hoodies make life more comfortable!

When it is cold and rainy outside, one of the best items of clothing to own is a hoodie. A sweatshirt with an attached hood is perfect for those springtime and autumnal walks to school or on a workout, when the drizzle is coming down yet it is too warm for a full coat or jacket. Now you can find your favorite item of clothing in a version that helps you to make a statement about who you are and what you believe: Christian hoodies.

Christian hoodies are particularly wonderful gear to wear before, during and after workouts. You want to stay warm before your cardio workout, so that your muscles stay limber. If you are going for a long cross-country run in chilly weather, wearing layers is a perfect way to maintain your warmth at just the right temperature during the heart of the workout. Hoodies also keep the back of your neck and head warm as well, which is crucial for your comfort on wintry workout days. After a workout, your body will cool off quickly, and you will notice your muscles tightening up if you are not properly attired to conserve your body temperature. Christian hoodies work well in all of these circumstances. It is also a real treat after your workout to throw your hoodie in the dryer and then jump in the shower, because after you get out of the water you know you will have a fabulously warm hoodie to snuggle up into.

Wearing Christian hoodies and other styles of Christian clothing when you are out and about is a wonderful way to share your faith as well. Complete strangers can read what you have to say on your hoodie, and come away with a better understanding of who you are--not many items of clothing can attest to that feature. And there are so many funny sayings on Christian hoodies that they will put a smile on your friends' faces. You can find a hoodie that is a spoof of the popular Abercrombie and Fitch brand, with the saying "Abreadcrumb & Fish" emblazoned across the front. Your Christian friends will get a chuckle on your clever play on words while making a reference to a familiar Bible story. Some hoodies are a bit more subtle, using abbreviations. CFL stands for Christ For Life, a catchy slogan that you can wear to evangelical effect the next time you put your hoodie on. Based on the popularity of Myspace, you might select Christian hoodies that report that "Jesus died for my space in Heaven."

You never know what will reach a heathen, but why take any chances? Let your clothing do the talking when you want to evangelize by wearing your stylish Christian hoodies to all of your favorite shopping and dining places, as well as the gym.

About the Author

Susan Slobac helps promote that Christian clothing is making its way into the workplace and classrooms alike with their edgy statements and thought-provoking designs.

Source: <http://www.articletrader.com>