

Deciphering How Girls Think About Their Partners

Ladies just entering a marital or another kind of formal relationship tend to change the way they behave and it is this transformation that many men find problematic and worrying. Some of these are so funny and ironic that they seem too real to be true. But they are. In this article, you will be able to take a short glimpse into some of the more obvious behavioral patterns followed by married women.

Even though if you ask a woman if she is a typical woman she will say no, chances are if you ask her significant other he will probably say that she has many of the stereotypical traits that men are always making fun of, but confronted with this insight the woman will not only deny this, but will give examples of how she is not like other women.

What is this Article About?

Listed below you will find no great insights into the female psyche, just some very old, but true jokes, that show the double standards that most women have towards men. These jokes are not intended to be taken seriously they are just jokes are not meant to be insulting to females.

Please remember what you are about to read are some jokes about the common traits that women seem to share when it comes to the males of the species.

- 1) It is ok for a woman to ask if she is gaining weight, but the man will be in the dog house if he says anything but no, or if he hesitates in his answer.
- 2) Women often enjoy venting about how awful their families are, but the Man can never agree or participate in the family bashing.
- 3) Just like the fact mentioned in point number three, she will talk out against his kin as well, but here too, he must agree or else he cannot see clearly.
- 4) Only he can be called lazy if he forgets or fails to clear up the mess. But when she fails to do so, she will smile and claim that the reason behind this is not laziness but fatigue.
- 5) If a man is unhappy in his relationship he can get a divorce, but if he does he is abandoning the woman, but if a woman asks for a divorce she is doing the right thing, by getting out of a bad relationship.
- 6) Men should not yell at the kids, but the kids should stop giving the mom a reason to yell at them.
- 7) When a Woman asks her significant other to make her a cup of coffee it is no big deal, and is expected to be done without a complaint, but if a man asks a woman for a cup of coffee the woman will come back with "I am Not Your Slave".
- 8) When the partner does not respond, the woman shouts and asks him to do so. But when he does, the woman shouts and asks him to shut up.
- 9) A woman complains against her partner who does not give in when the matter is important to her. But, on the other hand, every matter and incident is important to the woman.
- 10) When the partner buys something, he is wasting money. But, when the woman purchases something, it is because she only lives once.
- 11) He has got to learn how to apologize to her because this is one of his major faults. She, on the other hand, is always willing to apologize. The only problem why she does not is that such an occasion has yet to arise.
- 12) He must spend a lot of time fueling their love, but she does not have to as she has worked hard and had a terrible day.

Closure:

Let it not be argued or mentioned that a man is more than a woman because the opposite is the case. Women have more brains, are funnier and have a much better sense of fashion and humane characteristics. All I have done above is pointed out some of our female oddities, and such have not degraded women, but rather empowered them.

Attention:

No part of the above essay is meant to detail or criticize women. Each different point is merely part of my attempt in mapping out how an amusing portrait of a married woman.

About the Author

Sharon Gerad cases out poker rooms and online casinos for her fans wishing to play such games but also for those that prefer gambling on horses online. She edits professional articles for a family journal and is one of the few enrolled in Family Studies at her college.

Source: <http://www.articletrader.com>