

Where to find Unlimited Music Downloads in a Snap

Perhaps it interests you to know where to find unlimited music downloads. More and more people are familiar with downloading music from online sources that offer music downloads. It therefore interests them to know where to find unlimited music MP3s to download. Not only that, you may want to know how you can do so for a nominal fee, maybe a monthly or yearly subscription fee would be reasonable. This article would provide some details on several sites that offer such a service to you. You would also discover that there are actually online music download sites that offer unlimited music downloads for a one-off fee only.

Where to access unlimited music downloads for a monthly fee?

1. Rhapsody

Rhapsody is arguably one of the pioneers in the digital music industry. In fact, it is one of the original first sites to offer unlimited music downloads. You can also download their entire play list onto your player. Though you need to download and install a software in order to download music online from their website when Rhapsody first started business, today, you have the option to do a direct download. They also offer a limited number of free songs each month.

2. AOL Music Now

There are more than 2 million songs available at this site. The good thing about using this website to download music online is that you can download music directly without installing any software on your computer. For an extra $5 a month, you can download unlimited music to your portable digital player.

3. Napster

This is the new Napster unlike the old which was plagued with problems. Here you need to install a special proprietary software onto your computer in order to access the unlimited music downloads at the site. They have at least a million music files in their play list. The special "To Go" service allows you to download more than 90 percent of all the songs on the playlist onto your player.

As you can see, these are good options to get unlimited music downloads for your MP3 player. But if you still find the monthly fees a bit too pricey, you can always turn to other online music membership sites that offer lifetime memberships. Do not be surprised that several of these popular sites only charge you a nominal fee of lower than $40 to $50. It is becoming very popular among the teens and young adults since they are the heaviest users of music media files and the prices are within their reach.

But since there are dozens of such membership sites, the question of which is the best would often pop up. Different sites can vary in the number of song files, the variety and genre of music offered, the download speeds, the security of site, the cost of membership and so on. So from what you can see, there are quite a number of choices and decisions you got to make when selecting an online music site to download music online. To find out the answers to which are the top download sites for unlimited music downloads, visit my music blog and read up the juicy news.

About the Author

Davion is a music addict and cannot do without them. Find out about hot and limited offers for unlimited music downloads. Also read his wildly popular article on unlimited music downloads.

Source: <http://www.articletrader.com>