

Choosing The Right Trophies For Equestrian Sports

When organizing an equestrian sports competition like horse racing, you should prepare your prizes and trophies long before the scheduled event to avoid rushing around. If you have sponsors for your prizes, you should let your sponsors know what prizes to give so that they will have some ideas of what are expected from them. For instance, if you want a certain sponsor to give the first prize for the children's horse racing category, you should make suggestions to that sponsor as to what prizes to give. No, it will not make you sound pushy if you give your sponsors some ideas as to what types of prizes they should give for certain events in the sports competition. In fact, a lot of sponsors and donors would welcome your suggestions because this will relieve them of the burden of choosing what to give.

Choosing Trophies

Most sponsors and donors give money for the event so it is up to you to choose the right type of trophies for the different events. If you have enough money to get custom made horse statues for trophies, then by all means do so. Note that horse statues are very significant during equestrian competitions so do not scrimp money when it comes to getting good quality horse statues. On the other hand, if you do not have enough money to get custom made horse statues for trophies, you can always buy those ready made trophies from the store. There are a number of stores in the country that are selling good quality horse statue trophies so visit these places.

The internet is also a good place to shop for your trophies. There are also a lot of online stores that are selling horse statue trophies. The good thing about shopping online is that you will not waste so much time walking from one store to another to find what you want. When you shop online, you just let your fingers do the walking and the talking so you get to save a lot of time and energy.

Although most sponsors will just give equestrian sports organizers money for the prizes, some donors and sponsors would like to give their own trophies. If some of your sponsors would like to donate trophies for the event, you should give them some specifications for the trophies. For instance, since this is an equestrian competition, it would be best for you to specify a trophy with a horse design. You should also specify the size of the trophy.
