

Why price comparator sites are so good

There was a time, not so long ago, when in order to find out the best renewal premium, we had to trail around insurance offices, or spend hours on the 'phone comparing prices. That was bad enough but it was not easy to compare the differing policies and discounts that may be available without having reams of paper scattered about. Insurance brokers helped a great deal in the price comparison search, but many of these good people were tied in and received commission from one or more insurance companies, or that just had a favourite, possibly the one that paid the biggest commission. We had to visit their offices or again spend time ringing around, hanging on to the telephone, or waiting for a call back.

Price comparison sites have revolutionised the way we insure our cars and there are many to choose from. It is important to search through a truly independent site such as www.chooseinsurance.co.uk where many insurers products are viewed and prices and policies compared. Chooseinsurance.co.uk does not receive any form of commission from the insurance companies, in other words there is no kick back and the advice given on the site is truly independent.

Price comparison sites also help when looking for premiums to protect your valuable no claims bonus, which can in themselves be worth hundreds of pounds. They help when selecting which insurers will offer the best discount for a second car or how much it will cost to add a young driver, or someone who is wishing to learn to drive, again potential savings of hundreds of pounds could be involved.

Using the price comparator site is very simple, an online questionnaire is all that you have to complete and the site does the rest for you. All the relevant quotations are seen and these are easily selected making the policy offers simple to compare. When you have made your decision, the policy can be purchased immediately using guaranteed secure financial software and all documentation can be downloaded or sent to you through the normal post if you prefer. It has never been easier to find what is on offer from the companies using the comparator site when you want to insure your car.

About the Author

Richard writes about insurance related issues for a number of different websites

Source: <http://www.articletrader.com>