Go for the right shoes. Heels are a must for clubwear but this does not mean that you need to wear 4-inch high types when you are not comfortable wearing them. Do for something sexy yet comfortable.

As in the previous tip, more important than looking sexy is being comfortable. Do not done on a hot piece of dress when you know that you are plainly uncomfortable in them. No matter how hot you look, you will still end up looking pathetic if you can not even move around it.

Highlight your best features and disguise the least. If you have nice legs, then go ahead and flaunt them by wearing sexy clothes that will draw attention to them. On the other hand, if you are a bit on the heavy side, wear something dark to create an illusion of a body that is smaller.

Sexy clothes are only sexy when they are not out of style. You do not have to worship fashion trends but it is useful to keep updated with them.

Imagine how it would make you feel if people thought you just stepped right out from a different era.

When it comes to clubwear, do not hesitate to experiment on your own style. It would be better to be a great trendsetter than to copy from styles of other people. It is only by adding spice right into your style that you can stand out from a myriad of people. If you go out with girlfriends, try not to resemble each other or you might end up being labelled as a girl group or something to that effect.

Accessories are the in thing these days, but never go overboard with them. So, try to bring attention by using one key accessory and go subtle on the others. What you want is to look sexy and sophisticated on top of your clubwear.

Again, what you want is to look sexy and not overly slutty. The best effect you can achieve n club wear is to look nice and visually stimulating, yet leave a lot more for the imagination to work. So, try to go low on see-everything-through clothes, or reveal all pants.

Of course, you might know by now that panty marks lines are definitely not attractive. All the more for bra straps or straps falling off.

Lastly, never forget to put on some nice perfume. Remember how dancing and club fun can bring on sweat. So spritz on some sexy, attractive scent to encourage people to come to you, and not the opposite.

More important than wearing sexy clothes and the right clubwear is knowing how to properly carry them. What makes a woman stand out is the attitude and the look coupled together, one is simply not enough.
