

Cricket world record is a lifetime achievement of the player

Cricket is the heart and soul of every cricket fan. It is a game of thrill and action. Today, the cricketers are a house-hold name and fans feel happy when any of their favourite cricketers keep on adding records on their book. Whenever, any player hits fours and sixes, people appreciate them. Making cricket world record is not an easy task. In order to make any record, the player is required to play a good game. Making and breaking of records is a part and parcel of any game. Any interesting strike is cherished by the people for a lifetime. Cricket is a game of passion and in India, people worship cricket and idolize their favourite cricketers. Cricket fans stick to their TV sets from the beginning to the end of the game. Everything comes to standstill when any cricket match is being played.

Any cricket world record is preserved carefully by the cricket association. Whenever a player steps on the ground, his fan starts pinning hopes and prays ardently that some miracle happens and their man breaks the old record and creates a new one. To make a record is not an easy task; it requires hard labor, dedication and some amount of luck. There are many books available on the market that tells us who made what sort of records. Some people have a good knowledge of cricket world record. Any question regarding cricket is on the tip of their tongue and they are capable to give quick reply. The joy of a die-hard fan cannot be measured whenever his favourite cricket player makes a record.

Cricket world record is not made in every game. It happens very rarely. Once any new record is made and any old one is broken, the news is flashed on every channel. If unfortunately, one happens to miss the game, then he will surely watch the repeat telecast and enjoy that historic moment. Making a record boosts up the confidence level of the player and makes him famous overnight. Sponsors run around the cricketer to endorse their product. A player earns in lakhs and crores when he plays well or makes any sort of record.

There are many sites that give information regarding the cricket world record. It keeps one updated on cricketer's personality traits, career and personal life. These websites also show the clips from the match that has created history. World records are maintained separately by a separate cricket body. Maintaining cricket records is a huge task and it is allotted to many people. A cricket fan watches every match with great interest and is not willing to miss any game. Usually, people find one day game more interesting than test match. The thrill in the one day game is higher than test match. People want their country to hold the trophy of victory. After watching the 50 long over game, people do not want their country to lose. If somehow, his country loses then it really hurts him. Everyone wishes that their country beats the other party and holds the winning title.

About the Author

Ella Wilson is a cricket fanatic. She simply loves the game and tries to catch live action no matter where she is. At Stickiewicket she works on Online cricket score, Live Cricket Score, Fantasy cricket, cricket, CricketWorld Record and Cricket News among other things. You can see her works at www.stickiewicket.com

Source: <http://www.articletrader.com>