

Why do Russian brides, women want to marry American foreigners?

There are thousands of dating services featuring young, beautiful Russian brides, women - who are looking for American foreigners. There are so many Russian brides, women that it might seem all of the young beautiful females in Russia have decided to leave their native country. This is only an illusion, though. Russia and Ukraine are very big countries with big populations, and women who are looking for husbands abroad represent less than 0.01% of all single Russian women.

The Russian women who place their ads with dating services, hoping to fall in love with a husband in the USA or Western Europe, have various reasons to do so. The most common reason is that Russian women have heard from friends and the media that American men treat Russian women better than Russian men do. They have heard that drinking isn't such a problem in these Western countries as it is in Russia, and that men actually care for their families.

So, the common perception that mail-order Russian brides, women are looking for a better lifestyle isn't quite right. In reality, Russian brides are searching for a better USA or Western Europe man than they can get in Russia or Ukraine. See more information about single Russian brides, women who are looking for Western husbands.

About the Author

Author Free Dating Russian brides

Source: <http://www.articletrader.com>