

A Few Great Tips for Hosting a Baby Shower

If you are the person assigned to plan a baby shower then now is your opportunity to put on the best baby shower you have ever been to. One great idea is to consider the mom's interests and base your theme off of that. For instance, if the mother has one or more particular interests such as sports or music then you may want to build that into your theme.

It is imperative that you make the theme obvious on the invitations, so that everyone that attends will know what it is. Of course, you will need to play games and one great idea is to hold a raffle that offers as a prize such as a nice basket of wine and cheese.

You can let the guests know on the invitations that the cost of a raffle ticket is a bag of diapers or some baby wipes. Guests can buy as many raffle tickets as they want to and before the evening is over the new soon-to-be mom will be stocked with these basics for a year!

Don't forget to provide plenty of snacks and one easy idea is to order a pizza delivered, because it is so easy to do and this will free everyone up to enjoy the baby shower as much as possible.

One new trend that is becoming popular is to host a couples baby shower that includes the dad. If this is the case then you might want to include some activities that include him. One great idea to keep him occupied is to assign him the task of running the bar-BQ and give him some chicken to cook. Remember to make sure that you have at least one bottle of wine to toast the event with and all will go well.
