

Great Gift Ideas for A Denver Bachelorette Party

If you are the friend of a bride-to-be and want to help throw her a great Denver bachelorette party that she'll always remember, you'll need ideas for some sexy gifts. But what you decide to get should depend on what kind of woman she is. Don't worry though, no matter her temperament, here are some ideas for those sexy gifts. She won't be single for long, so a gift like those below will be a gentle but memorable reminder of what she's leaving when she goes off to married life.

If Your Friend Is A Shy Bride

You're getting the Denver bachelorette party together, but you have a shy bride-to-be, what do you do? You need to make sure you don't make her feel uncomfortable – especially in front of new guests. This is a chance for you to give her a Hitachi magic wand, a discreet gift. The Hitachi Magic Wand was made to be a muscle massager, so it can be in a bedside table, but it can also function as an excellent vibrator. The Hitachi Magic Wand has two high-speed settings that will get the attention of even the shyest bride-to-be.

If the Bride Likes to Party

You may be part of a Denver bachelorette party in which the bride-to-be wants to have an awesome party and lots of laughs. The perfect gift for her is a Rock Chick vibrator. This toy is supposed to look as fun as it feels. And its made to be ready for action all the time. Same goes for the I Rub My Duckie vibrator, which can sit next to the tub without anyone noticing. And just the look of it should get a chuckle from the bachelorette.

If You're Having a Party For the Classic Bride

The classic bride wants to be subtle, so you may want to give her a Lipstick vibrator. This toy can fit into her purse, so she never has to be without it. The vibrator may look like a makeup necessity, but it's an effective sex toy. Because of its look, the bride-to-be can put it in her overnight bag to go on a trip and security is none the wiser.

If Your Friend is Wild at Heart (and in Bed)

Some Denver bachelorettes are not shy about anything. They'll volunteer the information about their latest sexual exploits. A vibrator like the ones above may work. But how about something really wild like nipple clamps. The vibrating clamps can fit on her nipples and give an intense sensation. Other clamps, with bells attached can let the new bride give her new husband a hint at when she's around.

Any kind of Denver bachelorette wants to have a good time at her party. But she surely doesn't want to be embarrassed. That's why you can use these ideas and make a great impression on her and leave her with some great memories.
