

Need Internet Home Business Ideas - Work From Home With Network Marketing

If you have spent any time at all searching for methods to earn money from home, then it is probable that you have come across many enticements to get involved with a network marketing company and have been encouraged to use that as the foundation for your work from home business.

While MLMs have been around for decades with one of the most well-known and longest running being Amway, this business model has seemed to enjoy a resurgence of popularity as the interest in work from home opportunities has risen.

For many years, people have confused illegal pyramid games with legitimate network marketing businesses, mainly because both have a common element, of recruiting new people to participate in the endeavor. However, that is really the only commonality. Illegal pyramids are simple money games because there is actually product being exchanged for money, simply money moving through the pyramid structure. However, there are some of these games that exist that have a product that is massively overpriced in an attempt to disguise the illegal set up.

It should be recognized that network marketing is a proven business model with hundreds of examples of large, stable and quickly growing companies that utilize networking to introduce unique, high-quality products to the marketplace. In fact, a number of common products we see in store shelves today were once only available through MLM companies.

One of the biggest benefits of a networking business is that the structure allows you to leverage, or multiply, your efforts as you build your own organization. This means that as a networker, you are looking for other like-minded people who want to create a work from home business for themselves, and they become both a customer buying the product and part of your marketing team. As your team grows, you benefit from overrides, or commissions, from the work that everyone in your team is doing.

This type of structure can develop into very lucrative income, depending on the size of your team and how the specific compensation plan is set up, and the quality of the product being offered. While an MLM company can get off the ground with a generous pay-out plan and a poor quality product, the network marketing companies that last for many years and decades are those that feature unique, high-quality products.

For many year, a new network marketer was encouraged to make a list of all the people they could think of, even distant relative and remote acquaintances, and share the business and/or product with them. This gave networking quite a bad reputation, and because of the level of rejection people received it often lead to very low retention rates of new MLM distributors. Improved MLM training and use of network marketing lead lists has helped to change that reputation somewhat, although many "old school" networkers will still insist that the new network marketer they are training makes a long list of their friends whom they can pitch.

Internet network marketing has allowed people to stop pestering friends and family and to focus on connecting with people on the internet, which allows a networker to spend time showing an interested person the details of their MLM business rather than trying to twist arms.

About the Author

Learn more about home based business opportunity at <http://establishyourepresence.com/>

Source: <http://www.articletrader.com>